

Nov. 2004

From the President

The October meeting of the Roslindale Board of Trade was a great success with many members in attendance. We had hoped to have both state senate candidates attend; unfortunately Senator Marian Walsh was attending an early morning house party and couldn't visit with the Board of Trade. Her challenger, Attorney Bob Joyce, regaled us with stories of growing up in Roslindale and how the community had shaped him. He brought the room to a hushed silence when he told the story of how his dying father shrugged indifference to an intimidating CAT scan machine. The punch line of the story was that the Joyces don't scare easy. Thank God they don't, because when the floor was opened to question and answers, political fireworks-- Roslindale-style -- flew about the room. Bob did a good job defending his positions and many members got equal time to say their piece on the questions of the day like the abuse of the Massachusetts constitution, Massachusetts income taxes, deductible charitable contributions, proposed new liquor taxes, and of course, gay marriage. What made this breakfast meeting so charming was that although there was spirited discussion, there was no animosity amongst our members afterward. More than one Board of Trade member remarked that it would have been great to see these two talented candidates engage in an old-fashioned Lincoln-Douglas debate in the old Roslindale High School auditorium. I think Roslindale is progressive enough to bring back this type of democrat forum. So whether it is Senator Bob Joyce or Senator Marion Walsh on election day, the gauntlet has been cast down and a real debate in the Suffolk part of the district is awaiting you and your opponents.

Our Next Meeting

When: Tuesday, Nov. 2
Time: 8:00-9:00 AM
Location: Sons of Italy Hall
 Birch Street
Topic: Joe Murphy, Boschetto's Bakery)
Sponsor: Boschetto's Bakery

Bob Norberg of the Cooperative Bank and the Kiwanis was honored by our guests from the Conley School at the end of the meeting. Principal Kathleen Armstrong presented him with a beautiful picture of the Flag Day ceremonies at the school. Principal Armstrong quipped, "We are looking forward to working again with Bob and the Board of Trade next spring. It was a great patriotic event for our students and faculty."

The sum of $400 was voted to the Rozzie Reps teenage club for a Halloween outing to the Salem Witch Museum. This money came from our Community Fund and we know it will be put to good use for some ghoulish fun. We also began the planning for the Roslindale Board of Trade's part in the Parkway Kettle Campaign to raise money for the Salvation Army.

Next weeks meeting will start at 8:00 am sharp at the Roslindale Sons of Italy Hall. A reminder that this is election day so make an extra effort to be a part of the local business community. Our guest speaker is Joe Murphy the new owner of Boschetto's Italian Bakery in Roslindale Square. Joe will talk about his personal journey in business to several cooking schools and finally to operating Boschetto's. Joe has had a brush with a near fatal disease and a recent accident. He has kept his entrepreneurial dream alive. I asked that we title his breakfast speech, "Out of the Ashes, Arose a Phoenix Who Could Bake." Of course Joe will be providing us with fresh baked goodies from his shop and hot coffee. New members are always welcome! Bring an old friend or recruit a new member! One last shameless plug...go Red Sox!
